Summing up the world's children SEK 77.6 million so far

By Örebronyheter on October 9, 2023

When the campaign for the World's Children was summed up in SVT last night, SEK 77.6 million had been collected, from north to south - in castles and huts - the collection has been going on for children's rights.

The collection continues throughout the year.

- With this fantastic result, the Children of the World can make a difference for so many children who are in need in the world, says Kristina Henschen, Secretary General of Radiohjälpen. - Many thanks!

This year, the collection for the Children of the World has involved both zealous people and organizations around the country, Archbishop Martin Modéus and Queen Silvia. The commitment is welcomed at a time when human development is going backwards. More children than ever in modern times have been forced to flee. The world is in a hunger crisis driven by, among other things, climate change, war and conflict and a range of economic factors.

THE WORLD'S CHILDREN HAS BEEN HUGELY INVOLVED IN THE COUNTRY THIS YEAR, AND THE COLLECTION CONTINUES THROUGHOUT THE YEAR. SO FAR, SEK 77.6 MILLION HAS BEEN COLLECTED. IN THE PICTURE THE PARTICIPANTS IN SVT'S SUMMARY PROGRAM ON SUNDAY 8 OCTOBER. PICTURE: SVT

The TV gala's results increased during the summation program

During the television gala on Saturday 7 October, the result landed at just over SEK 72 million, but increased during the summary program in SVT on Sunday to SEK 77,697,116.

HM Queen Silvia took part in the television gala, among others, on the occasion of her 80th birthday celebration. The Queen has chosen to start a fundraiser for the benefit of Ukraine's children through the World's Children campaign. All gifts given in the Queen's collection box will, according to the Queen's wishes, go to projects for children suffering from mental illness in Ukraine. Here you will find the Queen's collection box. The collection is open until the end of the year.

We got to see and hear Måns Zelmerlöw and Per Andersson, Thomas Stenström together with a choir from Järfälla music classes in years 5 and 6, Oscar Zia and Clara Klingenström in a new duet as well as the new shooting star Joanné Nugas. Live reporter from Gothenburg was Henrik Kruusval together with the juniors Gottfrid and Vilfred. Host and live reporter for the Tik Tok broadcast was Adrian Alebo Andersson together with Napoleon Westfelt. The landscape race was won during the evening by Småland.

Last week

During the week, Sweden's Radio's P4 has reflected the great commitment to the Children of the World, together with Christer Lundberg together with Farah Abadi and others. Here you can find P4's information about Världens Barn activities. In SVT, the television gala "Together for the World's children" was led by Farah Abadi and Fredrik Örnevall, assisted by the children Harriet Lindgren, Gabriella Westlund, Tereza Muvemba Lidström and Kerstin Linden.

Fundraising for Världens Barn continues all year round, but culminated during the past campaign week. On October 16, it will be clear how things went around the country, including the so-called municipal and county battles, and hopefully the collection can have increased even more by then.

The duplication

The doubling of gifts to the Children of the World also continues through the month of October through the Akelius Foundation. Does not apply to gifts over SEK 10m or monthly donors. The duplication will especially support educational projects within the Children of the World campaign.

Collected funds are distributed by the Radiohjälpen till Världens Barn project through applicant Swedish partner organizations. The World's Children campaign is Radiohjälpen's broadest children's rights fundraiser and focuses on all children's right to health, school and security internationally. The campaign runs until the end of the year, when the campaign is summarized in the television program "Världens Barn - reblicken".
